Nebraska Public Power District Retains Flynt Group

Kansas City, MO – July 2, 2004 – The Flynt Group, Inc., announced today that the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) has retained the Flynt Group, Inc. to provide select security consultation and services.

Flynt Group President, Dr. Bill Flynt, stated “NPPD is well in the forefront of critical infrastructure providers nationally in actively enhancing the security posture of their bulk electric power transmission assets. We are delighted to have been chosen to assist their team.”

Nebraska Public Power District (<http://www.nppd.org>) is Nebraska’s largest electric utility, with a chartered territory including all or parts of 91 of Nebraska’s 93 counties. It provides wholesale power to 53 towns and 25 rural public power districts, and serves about 75 communities with retail power. NPPD’s electrical grid system includes approximately 5,000 miles of transmission lines and delivers power to one million Nebraskans.
